

Care of your new Horse Training Cones

Your new cones will last a long time with a little common sense care.

They are made of plastic and will crack if left out in the cold. Store them in a warm area such as your garage or basement. If left in the sun for extended periods of time, the colors will fade. The cones can be washed off with a hose and soap if needed. While they are durable enough for your horse to pick up, it is not advisable to leave them with your horse for long unsupervised playtimes.

Feel free to e-mail us if you have any questions that are not addressed here.